Nominators had this to say:

Ms. Huebner has made significant contributions to GME within our school and at a national level that promote communication among coordinators, program directors, residents and fellows. She has presented at numerous meetings, committees and workshops, including at the ACGME Annual Education Conference, the Association of Program Directors of Internal Medicine (APDIM) meetings, our MSGME Monthly Coordinators' Meeting and the Mayo Clinic Education Coordinators' Workshop. National leadership roles have included service on the APDIM Program Administrators Advisory Council and the APDIM Publications Committee.

Ms. Huebner plays an integral role in our residency program. She tirelessly invests time and effort in ensuring each resident receives the schedule he or she desires. She always goes the extra mile to help spouses coordinate their schedules and days off. Because of her persistent efforts, each resident receives a free Mayo Clinic Board Review book and MedStudy series each academic year.

Her organization and leadership abilities are likewise legendary. As chief residents, we are most familiar with her scheduling role, where she meticulously coordinates schedules of 170 residents to best match their changing interests with equally dynamic institutional and regulatory requirements. She anticipates every possible complication and always proposes alternative plans.

It is clear that Ms. Huebner's competence and dedication flow from her passion to make her role as residency program coordinator more than a job. Her diligence and compassion have improved the personal and professional experiences for generations of residents and faculty members.
